

California Workplace Violence Team and a detail to the Postal Service's robbery task force.

While Mr. Brasher will retire, his wife, Gay Ann, an award-winning school teacher in San Jose, will continue her teaching career. Together they will continue their travels, which so far have taken them to 94 countries around the world.

I know I speak for my Senate colleagues when I wish Tom and Gay Ann Brasher all the best in this new phase of their lives and thank him for thirty years of distinguished service to the United States of America.●

LOUISIANA BUSINESS LEADER BILL RAINEY TO RETIRE

Mr. BREAUX. Mr. President, I rise today to honor longtime Baton Rouge business and community leader Bill Rainey, site manager of ExxonMobil's Baton Rouge Chemical Plant. Bill is retiring at the end of this month after a 33-year Exxon career that began at the company's Baton Rouge Refinery in 1966.

Those of us in government who spent parts of our careers in Baton Rouge recognize Bill Rainey as one of the most tireless community leaders and effective problem solvers in the Louisiana capital. Bill's leadership in the community and direction of ExxonMobil's philanthropic works will be hard to replace and the company's more than 4,000 employees in Baton Rouge will miss his steady hand on the ExxonMobil rudder.

A native of Auburn, Alabama, Bill earned a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Auburn University in 1966 before embarking on his Exxon career. He left Baton Rouge in 1973 for a three-year stint in Exxon USA's Houston headquarters but returned to the Refinery in 1976 to accept the first of many management positions in Baton Rouge. In 1985, he became manager of the Exxon Research and Development Laboratories (ERDL) in Baton Rouge before returning to the Refinery as mechanical manager in 1988.

Like many of Exxon's top performers around the world, he was called to Valdez, Alaska in 1989 where he served as operations manager for Exxon's oil spill recovery and cleanup operations. In 1992, he was named manager of the Baton Rouge Refinery, where he served with distinction until moving up Scenic Highway to the adjacent Baton Rouge Chemical Plant as site manager in 1996.

While moving up the ranks to ExxonMobil's two top positions in Baton Rouge, Bill also moved up the ranks in almost every industry and charitable organization in which he was involved. He is a member of the board of directors and the executive committee of the Louisiana Chemical Association and has served with distingtion as chairman of the board of directors of the Louisiana Chemical Industry Alliance since 1996. While refinery manager he served on the board of directors of the Louisiana MidContinent Oil and Gas Association and provided outstanding leadership to that organization's initiatives and responses to various legislative proposals over the years.

One of the organizations that will miss Bill the most is the Capital Area United Way, which he served as board chair in 1996-97. ExxonMobil's annual combined corporate and employee and annuitant contribution of more than $1 million makes it the largest United Way supporter in the state and says volumes about his leadership of that essential and worthwhile effort.

Bill also serves currently as a member of the board of directors of the Greater Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce and the Partnership for Excellence Board of LSU's E.J. Ourso College of Business Administration and as co-chair of Community Action for Children.

Among Bill's many awards are the 1998 Alumni Recognition Award for Community Services from the LSU School of Social Work and the 1998 Volunteer CEO of the Year Award from the Volunteer Baton Rouge Corporate Volunteer Council.

Probably Bill's most notable accomplishment since arriving in Baton Rouge 33 years ago, though, was discovering his lovely wife, the former Emilie Steffek of Baton Rouge, and with her raising their three sons—Will, 29; Chase, 27; and Kyle, 25—all of whom make their homes in Baton Rouge.

I know that Bill and Emilie will continue to be active in their efforts to help others and I hope to be able to call on Bill from time to time as oil and gas or petrochemical industry issues critical to our state arise.

Bill is a frequent visitor to Washington and I know the entire Louisiana delegation joins me in wishing both him and Emilie a long and happy retirement.

CAPTAIN JERRY BURKE, EVERETT POLICE DEPARTMENT

● Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, throughout Washington state there are thousands of people who volunteer their free time to tutor, mentor, support our teachers and make a difference in their communities and in lives of our children. I would like to take this opportunity to recognize an outstanding volunteer, Captain Jerry Burke of the Everett Police Department who has passed his love of the theater onto a group of elementary students at Madison Elementary in Everett. For his efforts, I am proud to award him with my "Innovation in Education" Awards.

Captain Burke participates in a program in which members of the Police

Command Staff adopt an elementary school in the Everett School District. While it is no surprise to see a police officer donating his or her time to a local school, Captain Burke is teaching something a little out of the ordinary for a cop who used to go undercover to bust drug dealers—he teaches a drama class.

When Captain Burke first approached principal Joyce Stewart, she was intrigued by his Fine Arts Degree in Designing for the Theater and his experience teaching theater arts prior to entering law enforcement. Furthermore, she was already interested in creating a drama program to expose interested students to the fine arts. Though he had no prior experience in creating such a program, or in teaching drama to elementary school students, Captain Burke agreed to take on the challenge.

This program has been a tremendous success. Captain Burke and the school created a drama club open to fourth and fifth graders that meets after school one day a week. The program continues to grow and approximately 35 students are now participating. The program combines lectures with creative drama games that emphasize communication, visualization, creativity, and improvisation. More importantly, the students enjoy the club and Captain Burke. Fourth grader Shawn Cook said, "Police officers are always supposed to be tough. Mr. Burke is funny and tough."

This spring's club is limited to 10 weeks since Captain Burke is attending the FBI academy in April, but he and Ms. Stewart are already considering options for spring of 2001 that would create a second creative drama class of third and fourth graders. The more experienced fifth grade students from this year's club are planning to put on the school's first ever dramatic production. Clearly, Captain Burke has made a significant contribution to the lives of these students and given them an interest that will last throughout their life.

One remarkable aspect of this program is that it demonstrates the importance of community involvement in our local schools. From this program, students will not only have an appreciation for the fine arts, but the will also have an appreciation for police officers and have a greater sense of community. I applaud the work of Captain Burke and wish his students the best of luck in producing their first play. Thank you to Captain Burke, and to all the members of the Everett Police Command staff for your contributions to local elementary schools.●

PALADIN DATA SYSTEMS SUPPORT OF THE WEST SOUND CONSORTIUM

● Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, when I travel across Washington state, one of